Central Intelligence Agency

Washington, D.C. 20505

20 January 2016

Mr. John Greenewald, Jr.
[redacted]

Reference: F-2013-02277

Dear Mr. Greenewald:

This is a final response to your 26 July 2013 Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request for information regarding:

1) "All documents generated about this NBC News trip to the CIA Museum in Langley, VA.
2) All documents given to visitors of the CIA Museum.
3) All documents that instruct CIA employees on how to visit the Museum, how to invite friends."

We processed your request in accordance with the FOIA, 5 U.S.C. § 552, as amended, and the CIA Information Act, 50 U.S.C. § 3141, as amended. Our processing included a search for records as described in our 23 September 2013 acceptance letter.

We completed a thorough search for records responsive to your request and located four documents, which we determined can be released in their entirety. Copies of the documents are enclosed at Tab A. We also determined that 26 documents can be released in segregable form with deletions made on the basis of FOIA exemptions (b)(1), (b)(3) and/or (b)(6). Copies of the documents and an explanation of exemptions are enclosed at Tab B. Additional material was determined to be currently and properly classified and must be denied in its entirety on the basis of FOIA exemptions (b)(1) and (b)(3), and other material on the basis of FOIA exemptions (b)(3), (b)(4), (b)(5), and/or (b)(6). Exemption (b)(3) pertains to information exempt from disclosure by statute. The relevant statutes are Section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, as amended, and Section 102A(i)(l) of the National Security Act of 1947, as amended.

As the CIA Information and Privacy Coordinator, I am the CIA official responsible for this determination. You have the right to appeal this response to the Agency Release Panel, in my care, within 45 days from the date of this letter. Please include the basis of your appeal.

Sincerely,

Michael Lavergne

Michael Lavergne
Information and Privacy Coordinator

Once a Single Visit Waiver is obtained for all visitors, please Request a Tour Form make a link. The Museum will check to ensure that we have an available docent and make every effort to insure that no-conflicts exist during your scheduled tour. Following a confirmation from the CIA Museum you will also need to obtain approval from CIC and Security. If you need a copy of the memo for CIC and OS, please send a note to [redacted] and we will be more than happy to provide an exemplar to you. (Can we provide a sharepoint link to the memo or a doc link here instead?) (b)(3)

[redacted] (b)(3)

If not contacted in advance about a delay, it is Museum policy to wait no more than 15 minutes for a group to arrive. If the group is running late, we kindly request that you give your museum briefer a call before they leave to meet you. Please note that since the tour windows are approved [redacted] your visitors may not be able to go through the galleries if the delay exceeds the approved time or conflicts with another tour or event. (b)(3)

Tour Policy

CIA Museum's central mission is to support the Agency's operational and training mission and to help official visitors to the Agency gain a better understanding of CIA and the contributions it makes to national security. The Agency's limited tour program, provided through the CIA Museum and the Office of Public Affairs, supports that mission with informative and engaging tours of the Museum galleries.

The CIA Museum is pleased to ~~be able~~ conduct guided tours of the Museum, schedules permitting, for those who have an official visit scheduled at HQ. Because it is located at HQ, CIA Museum is not open to the public. In order to ensure tour requests are routed through the appropriate channels, certain groups should request a tour through the following offices:

- Those USG officials with clearances (e.g., military or IC members) should work through their agency's representative to schedule visits, and, like all other groups, should have an official reason to be at HQ.
- Congressional representatives should work through OCA: [redacted] (b)(3)
- Military groups should work through ADMA: [redacted] (b)(3)
  [redacted] (b)(3)
- DNI officers should send all requests through the DAC: [redacted] (b)(3)

We give operational tours priority and regret that we do not have the resources to tour families. However, in accordance with [redacted] employees may bring up to four immediate family members to CIA Headquarters per year. Our tour notes provide information on self-guided tours of the Museum for such occasions. The Museum requests that employees inform the Museum staff when they plan to bring a self-guided group into the galleries in order to de-conflict with any sensitive groups who may also be scheduled for that time. (b)(3)

We work with the Office of Public Affairs to accommodate junior and senior college groups for potential recruiting purposes in addition to several organizations that sponsor highly selected and talented high school students, summer interns from other Federal Government agencies, or other groups/business organizations that have an official or business connection with the Agency. Requests for tours by elite high school groups, groups of juniors and seniors from colleges and universities for recruitment purposes, foreign-policy councils and business groups or groups that have mission-related business with CIA, or other government or private organizations are carefully considered. We are unable to accommodate children or young adults who do not fit those general categories described above or other groups from the general public.

If you fit one of the approved categories, described below, please request a tour. If you still have questions as to whether or not your group is eligible to visit, please send a note to [redacted] (b)(3)

Groups unable to visit the Agency, may still experience the CIA Museum on www.cia.gov, as well as CIA's YouTube Channel.

CIA Museum makes every effort to accommodate tours that meet the criteria established in our Tour Policy. If your group meets this criteria please request a tour here make a link.

An ideal group is no more than 20. You will be responsible for arranging your guest's access to the building as well as escorting your uncleared visitors throughout the tour.

We have many different areas and galleries to show your visitors. Our typical tour lasts an hour and consists of:

- OHB Lobby
- Directors Portrait Gallery
- CIA in Afghanistan
- Cold War Exhibit
- Directorate of Intelligence Exhibit
- Directorate of Science and Technology Exhibit

Upon special request, and if times allows, we can also tour:

- Office of Strategic Services Gallery (NHB Atrium)
- A-12 OXCART
- Intelligence Art Gallery

If not contacted in advance about a delay, it is Museum policy to wait no more than 15 minutes for a group to arrive. If the group is running late, we kindly request that you give your museum briefer a call before they leave to meet you.--Please note that if the group is late, subject to other events and tours pending at that time, we may not be able to provide the tour.

All visitors must be US citizens, [redacted]. Please see the procedures and restrictions for foreign national visits for further information. (b)(3)

Thanks [redacted] Is there a plan to eventually post all four interviews? In this one, might we want to take the opportunity to add in parens that the original model is at NGA (with their permission)...and that ours is a copy of the original made expressly for CIA by NGA for the historical record? There is a needed clarification in the OXCART segment as well. Let me know if you need anything from me. Thanks much, (b)(3)

We would like to make your NBC interview the featured story next week. We have done this before, but making the interviews press releases and not a featured story, but this was such a good interview we would like it to be move visible than a release. OGC has looked at the agreement with NBC and has agreed that we can share the video with the public.

I will embed the video and include a transcript with links back to the museum. I wanted to check and make sure you are OK with this. Thoughts or issues?

VIDEO

Central Intelligence Agency Museum Director, Toni Hiley, appeared on NBC Nightly News on July 24, 2013. Below is the transcript of the interview.

Brian Williams: Finally tonight, if Washington, D.C. is the capital of all museums, and considering this is the height of summer tourist season, we wanted to show you one place not on the tour where the public is not allowed. But it contains vast treasures nonetheless of a secret variety; specifically the tools of the trade of the CIA. Tonight our Chief Foreign Correspondent Richard Engel has been offered a rare look.

Richard Engel: It's the greatest museum you'll never see. And it's filled with secrets - hidden cameras, weapons, decoding machines.

Figuring out how the Enigma worked is one of the turning points of the war.

Toni Hiley: Absolutely

Engel: World War II when the CIA began as the OSS, the Office of Strategic Services. Ever since, the agency has created tools for spies. Not James Bond. Not Maxwell

Smart.

These are for real, vintage pistols with silencers, a camera carrying pigeon, a 70s era drone the size of a dragonfly, the Insectothopter, coin sized Cold War camera.

Hiley: This is a microdot camera; the film pack is this disk.

Engel: It's American history but no visitors allowed. The secrecy protects CIA officers undercover.

I love this. Even in your own museum to celebrate the accomplishments, their faces are blurred out. The killing of Usama Bin Ladin is represented here too. This is the mock up. I recognize this from seeing it so many times. This is Bin Ladin 's compound. Abbottabad.

Hiley: The original was used for briefing policy makers. To brief the President.

Engel: Brief the President?

Hiley: Absolutely. The assault team used it to plan their raid.

Engel: So tell us more --

Hiley: We had hundreds of pieces of all source intelligence to make it accurate as possible.

Engel: Including the internal spaces?

Hiley: I can't talk about that.

Engel: Can't talk about that?

Hiley: No.

Engel: They can talk about this, Usama Bin Ladin 's personal AK-47, recovered by Navy Seals on the night of the raid, much like in the movie "Zero Dark 30." The real one, this one, has never been seen until now.

Hiley: Yes, this is the rifle that was recovered from the third floor of the Abbottabad compound by the assault team. It's a Russian AK with counterfeit Chinese markings.

Engel: on the night of the raid, bin laden never fired a shot. Now he is gone and his gun is a museum piece. One of thousand here, for private viewing only. Richard Engel , NBC news.

I just wanted thank each and every one of you for your critical assistance in working on the NBC News - CIA Museum project. As you know, the story ran last night on NBC Nightly News and this morning on the NBC Today Show. When Richard and I saw the gun last February (while walking to the PAO conference room), we knew we were going to do the Museum story.

It was a great experience walking the halls and getting a chance to take LONG looks at the artifacts rather than rushing by them. You and your staff's professionalism was much appreciated. I thought Richard's interview you was extraordinarily interesting ... and I've seen a lot of them. And the props from the insectocoptor to the t-shirt on the TODAY Show set made it so much more fun.

We've gotten a lot of pick-up from print media and MSNBC has run the TODAY show piece at least twice today. In the next few days, I should be able to get the numbers off the website. I would not be surprised if they were in the seven figures.

Keep up the good work and maybe the next time we are in Langley we can bump into each other in the museum. Thanks again.

Bob, first of all, thank you all for the superb work. I haven't been able to walk down the hall today without folks stopping me and I have DOZENS of emails to go thru from all over the country as well as from the workforce. Feedback has been overwhelming positive from everyone who has contacted me. Please pass my thanks to Richard, [redacted] the crew (b)(6) and of course our thanks to you for the respect and value you placed on our history, the objects, the museum's work to preserve our tangible history....and most of all, the Agency's mission. I really appreciate that. I also appreciate the quick action on the edits to the online piece. Thank you.

NBC's piece was the most comprehensive interview ever conducted with CIA Museum. The interview covered almost 80 years of intelligence history from a 1936 Enigma Machine to the 2011 UBL raid. The NBC piece is unique in that the scope includes treasures from BOTH the Afghan Gallery and the OSS Gallery - a linkage we make in the Afghan Gallery ourselves, but one that has not been made on film with both galleries together until the NBC piece yesterday. You all picked up on the power of that legacy and its place in our country's history as well as within our own organization. There's a great quote from FDCIA Hayden that states - at no other time in the Agency's history does it more resemble its OSS predecessor. This was the first time a donor was interviewed on film about a specific piece donated to the collection. That clip was superb! (Ian Shapira's piece was print.) Dennis was great and the historical footage was extremely powerful! And it was the first time that the UBL artifacts have been filmed. This was also the first time I have been interviewed in depth about the A-12 OXCART.

Let me know what else you need and again, our thanks and appreciation for the fine, fine work and the incredible opportunity to showcase our history. (and loved the photo of Richard and me in the OSS Gallery!)

Someone emailed us this overnight...

http://www.cbsnews.com/8301-500174_162-592871.html

"The part of the CIA that's in charge of science and technology is showing off some never before-seen-devices that have been used in the cloak-and-dagger game over the years.

"CBS News Correspondent Bill Plante went to CIA Headquarters to get a sneak peek at what some have called "the finest museum you'll never see."

"It's a museum of top-secret spy stuff, a display of the once-classified gadgets used by CIA spies all over the world. It's for CIA employees only, but CBS News got a rare look behind the scenes from Dr. Donald Kerr, director for science and technology."

I wasn't aware of the 2007 visit but it appears they didn't visit the entire museum. Is it fair to say ours was the first tour of the entire museum? I know the OSS wing wasn't open then.

An AK-47 found next to the body of Osama bin Laden is on display in a "secret" museum at the Central Intelligence Agency headquarters, NBC's Richard Engel and Robert Windrem report.

"Because of its proximity to [bin Laden] there on the third floor in the compound, our analyst determined it to be his," museum curator Toni Hiley told NBC. "It's a Russian AK with counterfeit Chinese markings."

Bin Laden was killed in 2011 at a compound in Abbottabad, Pakistan.

"After a fire fight, they killed Osama bin Laden and took custody of his body," President Barack Obama said in a May 1 announcement. "No Americans were harmed. They took care to avoid civilian casualties."

The soldiers who killed bin Laden found two of his guns only after he was dead, the Associated Press reported in 2011.

NBC reports on the gun's display at the museum:

Tucked into various hallways at CIA headquarters in Langley, Va., the museum displays the gadgets, artifacts and trophies of 70 years of spycraft, from World War II through the War on Terror. Closed to the public, it had only been visited by employees and invited guests until NBC News recently became the first news organization allowed to bring in video cameras.

The Russian-made assault rifle, identified on a simple brass plaque as "Osama bin Laden's AK-47," shares a glass case with an al Qaeda training manual found in Afghanistan soon after 9/11.

New York Daily News: SEE IT: Osama Bin Laden's AK-47 displayed in ultra-secret CIA Museum: report

July 25, 2013

The Russian-style rifle taken from the third floor of Bin Laden's compound after he was killed in 2011 now hangs in a super-secret museum inside the CIA's headquarters, NBC News reports.

The Russian-style rifle found near Osama Bin Laden's body after he was killed in a raid by Navy SEALs now hangs in a super-secret museum in the belly of the CIA's headquarters, NBC News reports.

The AK-47, taken from the third floor of Bin Laden's Abbottabad hideout, lay just out of reach for the 9/11 mastermind when SEAL Team 6 members stormed his bedroom just after midnight on May 2, 2011, and felled him with a blast to the forehead.

The gun is one of the most recent additions to the CIA Museum in Langley, a thrilling archive of spycraft memorabilia dating back to the agency's birth during World War II.

It is closed to the general public.

Then-CIA Director Leon Panetta requested for the Kalashnikov to be fished from agency's shadows so it could be displayed as one of the premiere trophies of the War on Terror, NBC News reports.

Mounted on pegs behind a glass case, the rifle is identified by a brass plaque that reads "Osama bin Laden's AK-47."

An Al-Qaeda training manual found in Afghanistan after 9/11 sits beside it, while the mock-up of Bin Laden's compound used to plan the raid lies a few steps away.

CIA museum curator Toni Hiley told NBC Bin Laden's rifle still works but, in true spook fashion, declined to describe the details of its recovery or whether it was loaded when found.

"I just know that I have it in my museum and I'm happy to have it," she said.

Talking Points Memo: CIA's Private Museum Displays Osama Bin Laden's AK-47
Zoe Schlanger
July 25, 2013

A Russian-made assault rifle housed in a glass case in the CIA's private museum is identified simply as "Osama bin Laden's AK-47," NBC reported Wednesday.

The gun, found next to the body of Osama bin Laden after Navy SEALs killed him in a midnight raid in Pakistan, is part of a collection most people will never have a chance to see. NBC recently became the first news organization to get a camera inside the museum, which is open only to employees and invited guests.

The agency will not specify how the rifle was recovered, but it is in good working condition, curator Toni Hiley told NBC.

"Because of its proximity to (bin Laden) there on the third floor in the compound, our analyst determined it to be his. It's a Russian AK with counterfeit Chinese markings," Hiley said.

The museum's exhibits fill three hallways at CIA headquarters in Langley, Va. and house artifacts from the organization's 70 years of clandestine operations, according to NBC.

Daily Mail: Osama bin Laden's AK-47 rifle with mysterious Chinese markings goes on display at 'secret' CIA museum
Olivia Williams
July 25, 2013

The gun found near Osama bin Laden's body when he was killed by U.S. Navy Seals has gone on display at the CIA headquarters.

The CIA's collection of unique artifacts from 70 years of major historic events, including bin Laden's gun, are on display to CIA employees only at their secretive base in Langley, Virginia.

The AK-47 was recovered from the Abbottabad compound after bin Laden died in a midnight raid in May 2011.

It was analysed and found to be a Russian AK-47 with counterfeit Chinese markings.

CIA museum curator Toni Hiley told NBC in their exclusive tour of the museum that the explanation for the Chinese markings remains a mystery.

The careful planning of the raid is also recorded in the CIA's collection, with the model of the compound that former CIA director Leon Panetta used to plan the mission and part of the life-size mock-up of the compound used to practise the raid, on display.

The mock-up of the Abbottabad compound turned out to be pieced together so accurately from intelligence reports that when the seals entered 'they said 'We felt like we'd been there before," Hiley told NBC as she showed them around private museum.

Although the CIA had thought since September 2010 that Bin Laden was in Abbottabad, it waited to attack until May 2011.

It found bin Laden's hideout by tracking a man identified as his key courier. When the courier was found in Abbottabad, the CIA began the surveillance that led to the raid.

After careful practice on the CIA's model of the compound, the raid was planned for May.

Via a video camera fixed to the helmet of a U.S. Navy Seal, the President and his staff at the White House saw the mastermind behind the 9/11 attacks shot in the left eye.

The Seal then carried out what is known as a 'double tap' – shooting him again, probably in the chest, to make certain he was dead.

Following the raid, relations between Pakistan and the West were put under intense strain amid disbelief that intelligence chiefs in Islamabad had no idea Bin Laden was living only 800 yards from the country's leading military academy.

Other recent museum acquisitions from the War on Terror include a partially-burned al-Qaeda training guide to firing surface-to-air missiles found in Afghanistan, as well as the raw lapis lazuli used to pay its members.

The displays began in the early 1990s but the museum's collection starts with the agency's origins running spy networks in the Second World War when it was known as the Office of Strategic Services, through its Cold War years and right up to the War on Terror since 9/11.

The OSS wing of the CIA's museum, which opened in 2011, traces the history of an organisation that was founded in 1942 to aid resistance fighters before it became the CIA in 1946.

The exhibit from the Second World War period includes counterfeit German postage stamps created by the OSS , the desk of OSS director William 'Wild Bill' Donovan, and a selection of false identification documents, maps and escape equipment.

There is a further layer of top secret artifacts that are not on display even within the CIA.

July 24, 2013

Somewhere inside the belly of CIA headquarters lies artifacts from decades of intelligence gathering, including drones disguised as insects and Osama bin Laden's AK-47. Found next to his body during the Navy SEALs' raid on his Pakistani compound, bin Laden's assault rifle is the most recent addition to the CIA museum's vast collection of gadgets, spyware, and the like. The Russian-made AK-47 is displayed in a glass case with an al Qaeda training manual found in Afghanistan in the wake of 9/11. But don't expect to get close look at the gun or any of the other artifacts in the museum, which isn't open to the public. Visits are invite-only, though NBC News recently got a peek and recorded it for the rest of us on camera.

RT: Bin Laden's AK-47 displayed in CIA museum
Staff
July 25, 2013

The CIA's museum in Langley, Virginia, recently acquired a new artifact: the AK-47 of Osama bin Laden, a weapon that was found beside the former al-Qaeda leader's dead body after he was killed by US Navy SEALs.

The museum contains gadgets, trophies, spyware and artifacts from the past 70 years, including pieces from World War II and the War on Terror. The museum is closed to the public, but NBC News became the first media organization permitted to bring video cameras into the facility.

The Russian AK-47 with counterfeit Chinese markings was recovered from the Abbottabad compound where bin Laden was killed in a midnight raid, and recently put on display at the museum, according to the exclusive NBC report.

Museum Curator Toni Hiley said the Chinese markings remain a mystery, but a Central Intelligence Agency analyst has concluded that the weapon definitively belonged to bin Laden.

"This is the rifle that was recovered from the third floor of the Abbottabad compound by the assault team," Hiley said. "Because of its proximity to (bin Laden) there on the third floor in the compound, our analyst determined it to be his. It's a Russian AK with counterfeit Chinese markings."

The CIA has not provided specific information on how the weapon was obtained or whether it was loaded when it was found. An anonymous source told NBC that it came from the "dark side" of the agency, referring to the operations staff that worked with the SEALS on the raid. The movie "Zero Dark Thirty" shows a member of the assault team taking the weapon from a shelf above bin Laden's bed. But Hiley said she knows nothing aside from the fact that former CIA Director Leon Panetta requested it and that it is in good working condition. It is not the same weapon that bin Laden was carrying in his anti-American propaganda videos.

"I wasn't there," said Hiley. "So I can't confirm or deny exactly where the weapon was. I just know that I have it in my museum and I'm happy to have it."

In 2011, the Associated Press reported that American soldiers only found bin Laden's guns after he was already dead and photographed, which added fuel for critics who accused the US of killing him while unarmed.

The Kalashnikov is mounted on pegs behind a glass case, identified by a plaque that reads, "Osama bin Laden's AK-47." It sits beside an al-Qaeda training manual found in Afghanistan, near a mock-up display of bin Laden's compound.

The model of the Abbottabad compound closely resembles the facility as it was found when bin Laden was living in it.

Partially burned by the bombing, the manual includes illustrated instructions on firing Stinger missiles. "

I believe that yesterday you said the origin of the Al Qaeda manual near to the AK-47 was unknown, that it was a gift from CTC and the museum didn't know from whence it came.

Our cameraman shot the caption and notes it says...

"AL-QA'IDA TRAINING MANUAL-

Partially burned by the bombing, the manial includes illstratedinstructions on firing Stinger missiles. "

Hi Toni-

Might the CIA have a photo of Stanley Lovell that NBC could use in our broadcasts? Ideally, it would be a photo of Lovell with Donovan if that exists. Also, we might want to use a couple seconds of footage from the clips on your YouTube channel. Do you have the following clips without the onscreen text?

"Wild Bill" Donovan: Father of US Intelligence
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Rnh8vrUGzt4

OSS: Training the Glorious Amateurs
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=vlYeEI5DFBQ&feature=c4-overview-vl&list=PLE6F88ABB81C68527

Richard M. Helms: Building the Tradecraft

Thank you!

[redacted] and I are headed down to the Cold War Gallery to clean inside cases now. We cleaned inside OSS this morning. I am aware of the one transformer in OSS in the weapons case that needs to be replaced and I have that action. We'll walk to galleries and let you know if we see anything. A huge thanks to EVERYONE who pitched it to make us look good tomorrow. I have asked the camera man to bring his industrial strength lens with the wrinkle eliminating filter so that I look as good as the museum does!! Thank you again for jumping on this so quickly!! Good afternoon,
Since there were some groups going through the Museums today with children, our custodial staff will go through again beginning around 1:30 to wipe any extra smudges. Some of the cases do have a little residue on the inside, if you want those taken care of we would need someone with a key to help out with that. Touch-up painting was done, but there were a couple little spots missed by the exit of the OSS Museum that painters are fixing now. I spoke with the Electrical staff and they noted all out lights were replaced, but there was atleast one fixture that remains dark because we do not keep that type of replacement ballast in stock. If you can think of anything else we can do to ensure our building is beautiful for tomorrow, please let me know.

Thanks,

(b)(3) [redacted] does not/not want to have any of his artifacts photographed. My instincts were correct in avoiding the Cold War Gallery. The [redacted] are his, I will substitute the button compass concealment which is ours. The [redacted] were part of the discussion with NBC in the museum on Tuesday. They did not include the [redacted] on the list they sent, but those are [redacted] as well. This will not be an issue since we steered NBC away from his collection in the first place and it's my preference to focus on CIA's collection for this great opportunity. Should Richard spontaneously wish to talk about something not on the list that is [redacted] as [redacted] anticipated, I can redirect him. So this is FYI only, no issues here. Good afternoon-

Thank you so much for giving up your Saturday to assist with the NBC shoot. Below are some of the key points we wanted to pass along, but please do not hesitate to let me know if you have any questions or concerns.

Dress: Dress is casual; however, please be mindful that you are representing the Agency and dress appropriately. Wear comfortable shoes!!! The shoot is taking us in various locations around the HQ compound, to include outside, so some of us may be hoofing it around quite a bit. Our last time around we had a pretty bad toe injury (no kidding), so please leave the sandals and flip flops at home.

Arrival: The Security teams should arrive at 8:00 am. Everyone else, please arrive by approximately 8:45 am. Our muster point is OHB [redacted] This is where you can leave personal belongings and can visit throughout the day for water/snacks and to take a load off for a few minutes. The door will be closed throughout the day, but everyone has been given alarm access for the day. In the morning [redacted] we will go over your responsibilities, pass out radios, and hopefully have any other information you will need for the day. (b)(3) (b)(3)

Food: When you arrive, we'll have coffee and donuts ready to go (we want you caffeinated!). Given the tightness of the schedule and the lack of open food options here at HQ, we will also provide lunch. We will have pizza, salad, dessert, and drinks available. There is no fridge [redacted] however, there is a microwave in case our food options don't suit your taste. You will NOT have the opportunity to leave the compound for lunch. (b)(3)

POCs: The phone numbers to Hollywood are [redacted] and [redacted] Please make sure you have these phone numbers available in case of emergency on Saturday morning. In the meantime, you can reach [redacted] (b)(3) (b)(3) (b)(3)

If you have any additional questions, please let me know. Again, thanks for your help with this endeavor!

I have been crystal clear that its a 9-3 hardstop. Security stops work then. I did say to [redacted] that if they stop and delay in one part..then that will sacrifice part of the shoot elsewhere. (b)(6)

Hi [redacted] and Toni- (b)(3)

I just wanted to compare notes on items that will be at the interview and display items that will have the glass removed for the day. For the displays where glass can only be moved two-thirds of the way, once we are done shooting the broll in the morning, can we close the displays back up before the walk and talk? It might look a bit distracting if those particular cases appear half opened while Richard and Toni are discussing the exhibits. If I'm missing anything that we discussed yesterday, please let me know! Best, [redacted] (b)(6)

Artifacts that will be at the sit-down interview:
Hollow coin
Microdot camera
New artifact: section of A-12
Lithium iodine battery
Match box camera
Cufflinks
Tobacco pouch camera
One-time pad
Insectothopter

Artifacts to stay in display with glass removed:
Scale model of UBL compound
UBL weapon
Display that includes the sub miniature camera and pigeon camera
Enigma machine
Display of guns/weapons in OSS wing (these are the displays with the swinging glass doors)
Hitler stamps

Osama bin Laden Operation

On May 2, 2011, President Barack Obama announced to the American people and the world that the United States had conducted an operation that located the notorious terrorist Osama bin Laden, the leader of al-Qaida and the person largely considered responsible for the terrorist acts of September 11, 2001.

The National Geospatial-Intelligence Agency's geospatial intelligence, or GEOINT, capabilities were used to help the Department of Defense (DOD) and U.S. Intelligence Community pinpoint the Abbottabad compound in Pakistan, where Osama bin Laden was residing.

Line drawing of Abbottabad Compound model

NGA developed a scale model of the Abbottabad compound to assist the DOD and national policymakers in the planning and preparation for the operation.

Abbottabad Compound Model

- The model was built by NGA's GEOINT model shop and is built to scale.
- The model of the buildings, walls and infrastructure is made from acrylic plastic and rests on a foam foundation.
- Plaster and other artistic materials were used to replicate the surrounding environmental features.
- The model has traveled extensively, including to the White House for use at senior-level briefings.

Hi All,

As we near the NBC/CIA Museum filming, I wanted to reach out for volunteers and confirm with those who kindly stepped up to the adventure.

The filming is slated to begin at 9:00 am sharp and end at 3:00 pm sharp.
-That's 6 hours of comp time.

NBC is bringing 12 crew members so I will need about at least 6-8 throughout the day to help manage the crew (breaks, bathroom runs, still life/camera filming- will be in two areas at the Agency simultaneously, so need Agency folks/security to escort/manage what is being filmed.

We will have security for the six hours . Copied to keep them in the loop.

Right now I tentatively have :

Myself (of course)

Hi,

We are still solidifying details on the Richard Engel/NBC/Museum filming on the 29th of June. I just want to gauge interest?
We offer comp time. We haven't nailed down the time or length of time. Most certainly it will start in the morning to probably mid afternoon but we will get back with specifics.

Please let us know if you can help.

Respectfully,

Hello all,

As we near the filming of the NBC/CIA Filming with Richard Engel, I would like to sit with all of you to go over the logistics of the event to make sure we follow your guidance and direction on security matters.

Are available tomorrow afternoon at 2PM (for about 45 mins). Let's plan on meeting in my office .

I will need to get complete headcount for overtime from each of your offices . (number of people /hourly rate...I have an estimated budget approval but need to finalize).

1) We did receive the comprehensive equipment/crew list for input into our databases and are doing that now.
2) We have the Filming schedule from NBC:

1 caveat – Mr. Helms MAY need to go at 11—in front of Toni Hiley – but he's working on his schedule right now.

AGENDA:
9-11 CREW LOADS IN & lights/sets up in lobby for TONI HILEY INTERVIEW
9-11 [redacted] AND [redacted] PHOTOGRAPH THE ARTIFACTS (may not need all this time) (b)(6)
11 – 12 RICHARD ENGEL INTERVIEWS TONI HILEY
12: 20 – 1:40 RICHARD ENGEL AND TONI HILEY WALK AND TALK ENDING IN OSS ROOM
1:50 RICHARD ENGEL INTERVIEWS DENNIS HELMS IN FRONT OF LETTER ON HITLER STATIONARY
2:15- 3 LOAD OUT

3) I am making plans for 6-8 OPA crew to manage the NBC 12 people coming to film

4) I will provide donuts for morning/we can figure out lunch plans [redacted] had some good suggestions) (b)(3)

5) We need to confirm what entrances will be open. Confirm what we can film/cannot film. Basically go over the do's and don'ts.

Thank you for your help!

Respectfully,

[redacted] The story of the UBL exhibit is quite complex. For reasons beyond the scope of this note, some of the Directorates were opposed to displaying this artifact in the CIA Museum. After lengthy debate (over a year), CIO/IMS over-ruled the objection on the condition that it would only be in the CIA museum and not otherwise released. These artifacts are phenomenally popular with visitors to the Museum. If we pull the sheet all the way back on this, we'll let you know, there are a few other artifacts and paintings around CIA that have similar issues.

Toni Hiley, the CIA Museum Curator is the driving force in researching, identifying, obtaining and leveraging artifacts that help make our past real to those working here, family, and visitors. Having worked in IMS for 12 years and having been exposed to many pieces of the CIA history I can attest to its value. She offers her apology for missing your note earlier.

[redacted] when I [redacted] walked them through the Museum display corridor, the mounted display of UBLs AK-47 was one display that they really liked to see. Could you pls check to see if there's a photograph of that display available? If so, how can I get a copy (either print or digital). If not available, how can I get permission to have a picture taken? - - - either by IPS or by an Agency employee who has a photo-badge? Thanks! (b)(3)

Hi Dennis, I hope this finds you and the family well!! I saw the pictures from the event at the Center with the presentation of the replica of the wonderful piece you provided our museum. So glad to see that you were able to be there!!

The Helms Letter is such an incredible piece of history and continues to resonate with everyone who has a chance to see it. An NBC producer was in recently to discuss with our Office of Public Affairs and me the possibility of filming a segment for an NBC show about "the best museum you've never seen." The producer wondered if it would be possible to include an interview with one of our very special donors and of course we thought of you, member of the Agency family, son of a former Agency luminary, wonderful piece of history and powerful artifact. The proposed date for the filming here at HQS is 29 June. I am not sure if NBC would want to catch you here or if they could interview you at your home, their call and they would make any travel arrangements. My question is, would this be an interview you could do and if so may we put NBC in touch with you?

Thanks so much for giving it some consideration. Feel free to give me a call or send me an email with your thoughts. Thanks again Dennis for all your have done to support our museum programs. All best, Toni
